PLACES to EAT in KOREA

Easy to Learn Korean Language

Chad Meyer, Moonjung Kim

Restaurant

레스토랑 resutorang

Serves foreign foods; normally priced higher than Korean cuisine due to the non-local ingredients used.

Restaurant

분식집 punshikchip

Serves small meals and snacks on the cheap, such as a spicy rice cake (ddogpoggi), tempura, and ramen.

Hof, Bar

호프, 바 haup, ba

Serves a variety of drinks including Korean beer and soju. Normally at least one small dish of food (anju) should be ordered.

Restaurant

포장마차 pojangmacha

Outdoors: Offers quick cheap meals. Standing room only.

Korean Restaurant

한식집 hanshikchip

All varieties of traditional Korean food.

Cafe

카페 khaphe

Offers various coffees, teas, and desserts.

Floor table

상 sang

Korean Barbecue

바비큐

ba bi qyu

A favorite of foreigners.

These places serve pork or beef, and sometimes both. Can be marinated or plain. A charcoal grill BBQ is preferred over a gas grill BBQ, but costs more.

Table

Knife	칼	kal

TIP

- Dishes are often shared among Korean colleagues and friends. Allow your senior members to serve themselves and begin to eat first.
- Don't feel ignored! Koreans prefer to enjoy their meals at their own pace and without interruption from the restaurant staff. When you need service, raise your voice and call out for assistance.
- Look around! Many restaurants also have buzzers to contact servers.
- Major credit cards, including American Express, are accepted everywhere.

Kimchi stew

doenjang

Doenjang Jigae is the Korean equivalent of Japanese miso soup. Both are made using fermented soy bean paste. Doenjang Jigae has green onions in a vegetable or beef broth as opposed to miso's fish based broth. It is an excellent source of protein.

TIP

- Hot soups are popular meals all year long, not just during the cold months.
- In the humid summer months, the combination of the spicy red pepper paste and the hot broth act as cooling agents for the body by causing sweat.

Long time no see.

오래간만이에요.
oraeganmanieyo.

TIP

- Saying goodbye in Korean requires knowing who is staying and who will be leaving. Goodbye is 'have a good stay' or 'go in peace'.
- If the speaker is leaving and other people stay, the speaker says 'annyeonghi gyeseyo'.
- If the speaker stays and others leave, the speaker can say 'annyeonghi gaseyo'. If all parties are leaving, everyone can say 'annyeonghi gaseyo'.

Good bye.

안녕히 계세요.
annyeonghi gyeseyo.

NUMBERS I

Easy to Learn Korean Language Skills

Chad Meyer, Moonjung Kim

The Korean language uses two sets of numbers. Anything that can be counted will require use of only one of these sets. Sino-Korean numbers, in yellow below, are derived from Chinese. Pure Korean numbers, shown in the two rightmost columns below, are of Korean origin.

One 하나 hana 	Two 둘 dul 	One 일 il 	Two 이 i
Three 셋 set 	Four 넷 net 	Three 삼 sam 	Four 사 sa

The Korean Train Express costs more than a regular train, but offers a fast and comfortable way to travel Korea. You can travel from Seoul to Busan in under 3 hours as opposed to 4 hours on the regular KORAIL train. Half of the seats face backwards, so avoid these if you are easily prone to motion sickness. Ticket pre-sales are announced and occur before holidays, selling out before the date of departure. Standing seats are also available.

TIP

- Expect to negotiate prices with shop stall owners. Each shopkeeper keeps a calculator handy for such situations. Ask to borrow it, then type in the amount you would like to pay. Show it to them. This may go back and forth several times.
- Shopping malls, chain stores, and department stores normally do not allow haggling.
- Korean department stores feature shops representing local and international brands. Each of these shops may have sale events. Look for sale signs, as these items are typically found in a single rack.

TIP

- The proper use of 'older brother' and 'older sister' will depend on the gender of the younger sibling. If the younger sibling is a woman, she will call her older sister, 'eon-ni'. If the younger sibling is a man, he will call his older sister 'nuna'.
- Younger family members must address older family members respectfully by using their title, as listed in the diagram above.
- Older family members can address younger family members simply by adding the letter 'a' to their name. So Moon-jung becomes Moon-jung-a to her parents, older brothers, and older sisters.

TIP

- 'Sigye' can be used to describe any device that tells the time. This includes a wall clock, an alarm clock, or even the time display on an electrical appliance.
- The English language requires an 's' to be appended to the end of a noun to pluralize more than one object. Korean uses only one form, the singular form, to describe one or more objects.

The Korean name for green tea literally translates to "green tea". Full of antioxidants that help minimize the effects of aging.

Plum Tea

매실차 maesilcha

This sweet drink is commonly served as a dessert after large meals.

Ginseng Tea

인삼차 insamcha

Normally purchased in powder form from supermarkets and department stores. Ginseng contains adaptogens which can manage stress, fatigue and anxiety.

Ginger Tea

생강차 saenggangcha

Recommended for cold prevention, headaches, motion sickness, diarrhea and maintaining a healthy physique.

Citron Tea

유자차 yujacha

Made from an East Asian citrus fruit called "yuja" that looks like a grapefruit. It is sliced and mixed with honey before preserving.

Barley Tea

보리차 boricha

Commonly served as a complementary tea in Korean restaurants. Naturally caffeine-free and good for stomach aches.

Herb Tea

쌍화차 ssanghwacha

A health tea made from various Korean herbs. It is useful in fighting colds and exhaustion.

Corn Tea

옥수수차 oksusucha

Kernels of corn are roasted and then boiled to make this drink. It has a naturally sweet taste and is often combined with barley tea.

TIP

- The personal pronoun "I", "naneun", is not required in Korean as it is in English. However, if you want to emphasize yourself, you can preface the conjugated verb with the polite form of "I", "naneun". This is noted by the optional use of "naneun" in parentheses in the pictures above.
- Koreans use a single verb representing "to be sick" and "to be hurt". These do not translate exactly into English. Therefore the expression, "I am sick," literally translates to "I have pain".

I am tired.

(나는) 피곤해요.

- Dairy products were not traditionally used in Korea and so most of their names are adapted from English words. Today, many Koreans enjoy dairy products such as cereal with milk, cheese pizza and yogurt.
- With the exception of large supermarkets, it is difficult to find fat-free milk, half gallons of ice cream, and gallon size milk.

Korea's competitive food industry has spurred the widespread use of point cards. By redeeming earned points you can: receive store gift certificates, transfer points to airline miles, pay a portion of the bill through point redemption, or receive numerous awards for your store loyalty.

Coffee shops, restaurants, bakeries, and ice cream shops also accept point cards. A sign near the register usually posts the cards accepted and the discounts given. Credit cards often provide rewards as well. Visit their Web sites for more information.

Street Vendor

포장마차 pojangmacha

Located near street intersections and nightlife areas, these food carts and stalls offer quick inexpensive food year-round. There are both daytime and nighttime types and hours will vary by location and owner. Some of the evening pojangmacha even serve alcohol such as soju. The food can vary but many dishes are deep fried.

In the fall and winter time, these carts are enclosed and offer a warm retreat from the cold. Warm or cold weather aside, Koreans love this comfort food.

Korean Rice Cake

떡볶이 tteokbokki

Arguably the most popular Korean street food. Large chewy rectangular-shaped rice cake mixed in a hot pepper sauce with scallions.

Fish Cake Skewers

어묵, 오뎅 eomuk, odeng

Skewered fish cake pieces boiled in a broth. The fish cake is formed by mixing flour and ground fish. Fish cake is also used in dishes such as tteokbokki.

Korean Sausage

순대 sundae

A Korean pork sausage. Similar to European sausage, it is made from pig intestines. These are stuffed with cellophane noodles, congealed pork blood and spices.

Batter-Dipped Food

튀김 twigim

Deep fried vegetables and seafood covered in a thick and hearty batter. Squid, sweet potatoes, chili peppers and dumplings are the most common types served.

Seaweed Rolls

김밥 gimbap

Rolled seaweed stuffed with boiled white rice and various other ingredients. These often include: imitation crab meat, cucumbers, pickled radish and carrots.

Battered Rolls

김말이 gimmali

Battered and deep fried seaweed rolls stuffed with seasoned cellophane noodles. It is a type of twigim. You can ask street vendors to mix the gimmali in tteokbokki sauce for free.

Korean Pancake

부침개 buchimgae

Enjoyed as a snack, appetizer or side dish. Korean pancakes are made from a variety of ingredients including: kimchi, green onions, seafood and meat.

Sweet Pancakes

호떡

hotteok

Flour pancakes filled with cinnamon, honey, crushed peanuts, and brown sugar. This wintertime favorite has recently become popular year-round.

Skewered Chicken

닭꼬치

dak-kkochi

Large pieces of seasoned chicken on kebab sticks. Scallions are sometimes placed between the chicken pieces.

Fish-shaped Waffle

붕어빵 bungeoppang

Fish-shaped waffles made from poured batter and stuffed with sweet red bean paste. Similar in taste to a European waffle. They do not contain any fish products.

Roasted Sweet Potato

군고구마

gungaguma

Sweeter, more yellow, and dryer than U.S. sweet potatoes. These are roasted during the winter attracting customers with their delicious smell.

Hot Dog Stick

핫도그 hatdogeu

A deep-fried breaded hot dog on a stick. Similar to an American Corn Dog.

Roasted Chestnuts

군밤 gunbam

Peel the chestnut to reveal the golden brown nut inside.

Seasoned Silkworm Pupae

번데기 beondegi

Roasted silkworm pupae. Pupae are insects aged between larva and adult stages. Chrysalis is another name for this stage in the insects growth. They are steamed or boiled and then seasoned. Can also be purchased in a can from the supermarket.

TIP

- The KBO, or Korean Baseball Organization, follows the same rules as the MLB in the West. The experience of watching the game, however, is different. Korean baseball demands the full attention of the audience. Thunder Sticks are banged together while the band plays, cheerleaders dance and the fans sing continuously for the length of the game. It is an experience like no other sport.
- The overall price of the tickets, food, merchandise, and parking is very reasonable as compared to the more expensive MLB games in the U.S. For those in Seoul, Jamsil Stadium is a fantastic place to watch either the Doosan Bears or the LG Twins. With over 30,000 seats, there is plenty of room to catch a game during the regular season. Attendance is up 30% this year, so arrive early to get the best seats.

Korean Barbecue

바비큐

Choose pork or beef to be cooked on gas or charcoal table grills. Marinated and non-marinated meats are available. The marinades are slightly sweet and often consist of onions, garlic, water, sugar, and soy sauce. Fruit, such as minced Asian pear, may be used in the marinade as well.

Next, put the grilled meat into a soy dipping sauce or a simple mixture of salt and pepper.

Lastly, place the dipped meat a red leaf or sesame leaf. Pickled onions, spicy wrap sauce, and other ingredients can be placed on top. Fold the lettuce wrap with your fingers and enjoy.

Buddha's Birthday

부처님 오신날, 석가탄신일

bucheonim osin-nal, seokgatan-sinil

A national holiday in South Korea. The date correlates to the first full moon day of the Lunar calendar which usually occurs in May. It is commemorated with a week-long lotus lantern festival. Buddha was born over 2,500 years ago.

Children's Day

어린이날 eorini-nal

Children's Day is a national holiday celebrated on the 5th of May. Korea has a patriarchal society, so this day is meant for fathers and mothers to spend time with their kids.

Parents' Day

어버이날

eobeo-i-nal

Every May 8, Parent's Day is celebrated as a non-official holiday. Although parents may go to work, kids will give red carnations, homemade cards or small gifts to honor their mother and father. There's an official Parent's Day song that children can sing as well. Restaurants are normally busy as older sons and daughters take their parents out to celebrate.

Teacher's Day

스승의날

seuseung-ui-nal

A non-official holiday celebrated on May 15th. Teachers are well-respected in Korea and this holiday is an appreciation of their efforts and hard work. Small gifts such as roses or carnations are considered acceptable presents.

- May is known as family month in Korea.
- Public transportation, shopping malls, movie theaters, and other types of businesses are busy. On Children's Day, for example, amusement parks such as Lotte World and Everland become very crowded.
- If these holidays fall on a Friday or Monday, creating a long holiday weekend, expect subsequent traffic jams.

TIP

- Shoe mending, or shoe repair, is a very inexpensive business that foreigners can utilize in Korea. These small crate-shaped shops are located along busy streets and intersections. You have the option to drop off your shoes or wait. Services include: shoe polishing, heel replacement, resoling, shoe stretching and comfort fitting, waterproofing, leather conditioning, and shoe hardware replacement. Cash only.
- Gift certificates are commonly distributed to workers during the numerous holidays of the year such as New Year's Day or Korean Thanksgiving Day. As a side business, some of these shoe mending shops will exchange store gift certificates for cash. If you have received a gift certificate but would like to have cash instead, you can exchange it here for a slightly reduced amount.

- Korea uses the pay per use model for non-recyclable trash. Recyclables are free, but everything else needs to be placed in purchased trash bags. This differs from some countries where you pay a flat monthly fee regardless of the amount of trash. Each neighborhood is responsible for selling their own trash bags. Local convenience stores carry 5 to 50 liter bags.
- Food waste is organic material that can be reused as animal feed and is safe for the environment. Hard shell nuts, pits of fruit, bones, and shellfish are generally not considered food waste. Dispose of these with regular waste in the purchased trash bags.

Rice with Mixed Vegetables

돌솥 비빔밥 dolsot bibimbap

Bibimbap can be described as a bowl of rice mixed with various vegetables or meats. Chili pepper paste and an egg are signature items that are mixed in.

Bibimbap can be served in a plastic or metal bowl. The slightly more expensive dolsot bibimbap is pictured here. It uses a hot stone bowl that gives the rice a crispy texture as it sizzles against the heated stone.

Kimchi Fried Rice

김치 볶음밥

- The largest bill currently dispensed from an ATM is 10,000 won, therefore transactions are based on multiples of this amount. Some ATMs will ask you how many 10,000 won bills you want to withdraw. This can be confusing as Western ATMs only ask the amount to withdrawal, not the number of bills to dispense.
- Money can be withdrawn in the form of cash or bank checks. Bank checks are printed in multiples of 100,000 won. These are accepted by most businesses. To use them, endorse the back of the check and show your ID to the clerk at checkout.

hae-oe / gukje ATM

TIP

- Phones with USIM cards inside them can be registered to function as ATM cards with Korean banks. Other methods of ATM access include passbooks/bankbooks and standard ATM cards. For added security, you will be required to use your PIN number when accessing an ATM using your mobile phone.
- Koreans do not use personal checks. Instead, bank transfers are used to pay bills. These are known as wire transfers outside of Korea. Korean bank-to-bank transfers can be performed using an ATM, via mobile phone, or online using the bank's secure Web site. Be sure to have the payee's bank name and account number handy.

TIP

- If your account balance falls below the specified amount in your terms of agreement, 900,000 won for example, the number of free monthly network ATM withdrawals and transfers will decrease. Banks normally offer a limited number of free out-of-network ATM withdrawals as well.
- Many banks have implemented transaction limits. Citibank Korea, for example, has a 10,000,000 won per transaction limit and a daily transaction limit of 50,000,000 won. ATMs have a transaction limit of 700,000 Won that can be paid in bank checks or cash.
